Smart School Branding that works!

A K-8 Director of Admissions reveals her winning formula for custom products that build community and keep schools top of mind.

Summer is her prep season! Her strategy? Target different audiences with purpose. Students get items they'll use and love—stress balls, cinch bags, and fidget toys. Parents receive practical everyday essentials like custom mugs and pens that keep the school brand visible in their daily routines.

The secret sauce: Quality matters. She personally tests every product for durability, comfort, and brand consistency. For outdoor events, she chooses practical favorites like custom sunglasses and sunscreen that guests genuinely appreciate.

Bottom line: Custom products become conversation starters that strengthen school community bonds while building lasting brand recognition.
